DEAR SIR -Feeling deeply grateful for the great

I was treated for my malady by the best physicians, and derived ne benefit from their treatment or prescriptions until I was advised by my family physician to use Hunt's Remedy, as my trouble was caused by inaction of my kidneys, which affected very seriously the action of my heart. I commenced taking it (having little faith in it or any other medicine), and it has helped me wonderfully, and I am now a great deal better and have been ever since I began its use. In fact, l have taken no medicine that has benefited me so greatly. My breathing is easy, and I have gained in strength so much that I am able to do my housework. These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth, cause headache or constipation, and is positively not injurious.

Gents:—Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Brown's Iron Bitters as a tonic and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption.
Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, she began to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A fifth daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said "Tonics were required;" and when informed that the elder sister was taking Brown's Iron Bitters, responded "that is a good tonic, take it."

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Congressional. WASHINGTON, February 24th.—After a short executive session, the Senste took up the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

A long discussion ensued upon the influence of the Typographical Union in the Government Printing Office, which resulted from a paragraph increasing the pay of com-positors. It was stated the office is entirely under the control of the Union, and the Gov-ernment has to submit to its dictation. HOUSE. Immediately after reading the journal the Speaker proceeded to call the committees under the Pound rule.

Randall, under instruction from the Committee on Ways and Means, called up the bill to prevent the importation of adulterated or spurious tea, and there being but one objection, it was amended and passed.

Page gave notice he would, on Monday next, move that the House go into Committee of the Whole on the storage of the Western that the storage of the works.

Red Cloud's Appeal. Washington, February 24th.—The Sioux chief, Red Cloud, had a hearing before the Committee on Appropriations to-day. He is seeking payment for horses, blankets, etc., taken for the use of the Government by General Crook. He spoke through an interpreter, and was quite earnest in his manner. He began: "I am Chief Red Cloud; look at me," and then went on to urge that, though not a man of education or cultivation, he had good common sense and business capacity, and was able to take care of the affairs of his people. He therefore protested against the recommendation of the committee to Secre-The state of the commission of article that gives more general satisfaction than the old standard remedy of WISTAR'S BALSAM decided not to take action on account of the decided not to take action on account of the generally. shortness of the session, but told him he must come before the next Congress. This was a inting announcement, which the chief | PITTSBURG (Pa.), February 24th.—G. R. took far more good-naturedly than would have been the case with many white claim-ants. address, which he brought in writing, and an elaboration of which his spoken testimony was: WASHINGTON (D. C.), February 20, 1883. To Law Chief: I am an Indian. Look at me.
My name is Red Cloud. I have sense. The Government, through General Crook, in 1876, took wrongfully 605 horses from me and my people. I wrongtiny our borses from me and my people. I have sense; so have my people. I represent them. I am in debt and have a large family. LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) February 24th .- Advices from Indian Territory report much uneasiness among a certain class of occupants of the territory, known as "squatters," many of whom have made it their place of residence for years. A list of such, numbering over and escaped to the hills.

2,000 names, has been sent to Commissioner Price, asking him to have them removed The Commissioner proposes to have Congress appoint a committee to investigate the matter. He thinks, in cases where these squat-ters obtained the consent of Indians to improve lands and erect buildings, they ought to be recompensed before removal, but where they have taken possession without consent they ought to be ejected at once.

The "Passion Play"-First Dress Rehearsal Broken Up by the Police. New York, February 24th.—A large number of people assembled to night at Salmi Morse's "Residence" to witness the dress rehearsal of the "Passion Play." All the seats were occupied and a large crowd gathered in the street. ered in the street. A strong force of police was inside the building in citizens' dress.

When the scene was ready the stage was cleared of all but those who were to take was cleared of an out-hose who were to take part in the rehearsal. Simon, Caiaphas, John, Anna, the Prophets, Joseph, Mary, the Levites and the multitude took their places and all was pronounced "ready." The curtain went up, disclosing the chamber of the temple. The orchestra began a solemn chant, the strain was taken up by the leading singers and the house was hushed as the first song died away. Calaphas advanced, holding aloft the scrolls upon which the law was written, delivering a recitation. The chorus begun to sing the reply, when Captain Williams issued from behind a pillar of the temple and arrested Morse, who stood near

The performance at once stopped. Morse's counsel was loud in denunciation of the outrage, and cries of "Shame" came from the temple. He called on them to witness that the performance had been stopped in the middle of a sacred song. Morse said he was arrested because he was not giving an immoral performance.

In response to a call from Morse's counse! who said the police could not arrest them for it, the performers sang the "Hallelujah Chorus," the curtain was rung down and the rehearsal ended.

Killed by His Brother-in-Law. OMAHA, February 24th.—A letter received here to-day brings news of the murder at Driftwood, Hitchcock county, last Tuesday, of a man named Owens. Owens and Elihu Kearns, who are brothers in law, residing at Driftwood, had been bitter enemies for some time, owing to an old family feud. On Tuesday they had a quarrel about family matters, and became very excited. Finally Kearns drew a revolver and exclaimed, with an oath, at the back. Owens died on Wednesday, Kearns made his escape.

Excitement in Pugilistic Circles. BALTIMORE, February 24th.-Excitement in puglistic circles over the respective ments of Sullivan, Slade, Mace and other rival slogglers, has been at fever heat for several days, threatening, on two or three occasions, scenes of violence and bloodshed. CONSIDERED. Gilbert L. Lansing, in the Popular Scince Monthly for March, considers, in the leading article of the number, the growth and effect of railway consolidation, and especially the railroad question in California. He points out that the charge of the politician that the railroads are operated against the interest of communities is an error. He makes clear the distinction between legal and natural monopolies; the one being absolute by law, the other under the free and equal operation of the laws of nature and the land, because they monopolize business by doing it more expeditiously and satisfactorily than others can. So far as they fail in this, they are not monopolies. There should not, therefore, he holds, be associated with the idea of natural monopolies the old hatred against legal monopolies. Combination and consolidation being the spirit of monopoly, the public assumes that it is therefore opposed to the common good; but they contain the actual substance of natural monopoly, which is such from its merits and benefits. and not from privilege. He then points out that consolidations produce responsibility, uniformity of service, economy in operations, and the minimum of tariffs, and these are the essential requirements of the public good, and these the public constantly receive from make some record of business. There is hardly a great corporations. These lines indicate but the opening argument of one of the ablest of essays on the absorbing railroad question. Mr. Lansing concludes that there is an increasing number of inquiring minds who have come to look with distrust upon the statements of politicians and the opinions of the unthinking press, and that popular judgment which is based upon misinformation furnished by these. He holds that the railroad, heretofore generally untrammeled by restrictive legislation, has been productive of more beneficent results to the country at large than tion ago would have dreamed. As a human institution it has contained also the faults common to humanity. These exa minimum. It is a popular error that railroad companies raise and lower rates at pleasure. Washington, February 25th .- To-morrow's House will be asked to adopt the emergency rule reported from the Committee on Rules by a majority vote yesterday. chances to-night seem to be in favor of the passage of the rule, extraordinary as it is. It provides that the majority may suspend the rules, which ordinarily requires a two-thirds vote, to refer the tariff bill to a committee of conference, and further to allay the the Pennsylvania prohibitory tariff men, it stipulates that if the motion shall fail the bill shall remain upon the Speaker's table. It denies to the majority of the House favoring concurrence in the senate amendment the powers explicitly conferred upon the majority, if one can be obtained to non-concur in the same. Its in-justice is privately admitted by the Repubicans as well as publicly avowed by the Democrats, but the majority plead in justification an emergency requiring unusual action. None of the Republican leaders seem able to predict with any degree of certainty the fate f the proposed rule. It is known that six or eight members of the Pennsylvania delegation, who are opposed to anything that will help revise the tariff this session, will vote against the proposed rule. The discussion in the House to-morrow may in duce some of these gentlemen to support it, or it may have a contrary effect. The debate will be spicy, and the Democrats will show the weakness of the Republican position, unless the rule is adopted and the bill sent to a conference committee. The Senate on Tuesday will request the House to return the bill, so that a few errors made in engrossing it may be corrected. When these corrections are made, it will be returned to the House, in the expectation that it ultimately will be passed by a two-thirds majority. The Pennsylvania mee, who are at present carrying things with a high hand, may learn, before they are through with the bill, that it is dan-gerous to monkey with a buzz-saw.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE,

THE MALTBY MURDER CASE. - A lengthy communication, leaning very strongly to one side, has been received from a Woodland correspondent, in relation to the Malthy murder case, and to publish which would be in the nature of instituting a trial through the newspapers. This would not be for the best interests of the defendant, nor in aid of the due administration of law. The RECORD-UNION in the absence of facts has carefully avoided publishing anything of sensational character about the matter, or any statements tending to produce a prejudgment of the case. All persons, even if charged with crime, are presumed by the law to be innocent until the contrary is preven, and should so be regarded by the public. The publication of communications, or supposed facts, either in favor or against parties accused of crime, tends at best, under our defective system of selecting juries, to disqualify the entire reading and thinking portion of the public as jurors, upon the ground of their having "read statements about the case in the newspapers, and formed an opinion." As to a jury selected from persons who in this age do not read the papers, an innocent defendant and the people alike may well reverentially pray: "Good Lord deliver us." For this reason the efforts of any paper in a case like the present one, without the possession of any facts whatever, to en-deavor to extend into columns in length, long drawn out shadows of rumors and ghostly speculations of theories, for sensational puroses, even under the guise and pretense of "newspaper enterprise," is reprehensible in the eyes of a discriminating public, and as unjournalistic as detrimental to the cause of

A SERIOUS AFFAIR .- Early last evening Eddie Stevens, aged 10 years, a son of E. M. Stevens, was brought to his home with a small pistol-ball lodged in his neck. The boy, with a half dozen others, was near the corner of Twelfth and G streets, and were discussing the question of going across the levee for some purpose. One story is that the Stevens boy refused to go, when another boy, named Karl Fuchs, aged about 12 years, a son of Peter Fuchs, who had in his possession a small 22-caliber pistol, said, "If you don't go, I'll shoot you." They then got to scoffling, and the pistol was discharged. The ball entered the boy's mouth, and, passing through his tongue, lodged somewhere near his right ear. A physician was near the scene of the shooting and attended the boy to his home. Another physician was called, and they agreed that the ball could not be extracted until the boy became calmer. There are contradictroy stories in regard to the shooting, the Stevens boy claiming that the shooting was intentional on the part of the other boy, while the Fuchs boy says the pistol was in the wounded boy's s possession a small 22-caliber pistol, said, If you don't go, I'll shoot you." They oy says the pistol was in the wounded boy's ad when discharged. The stories of the witnesses do not agree much better, but it is probable the pistol was unintentionally dis-

It has been publicly said that this these fight must be permitted. said that "if these fights must be permitted, surely they ought not to be permitted on Sunday;" but since the people of the State have decided that there shall be no Sunday law there appears to be several good reasons why Sunday should be set apart as a day for fighting. The principal reason is that many s only on Sunday that they have the time to attend. Then the pugilists have invariably shown a disposition to go beyond the city limits, where their slogging will not interfere with those who wish to spend the day in

And you, State Officers, your cares forget.

Madame Ellmenreich appeared at the Metcharged in the scuffle, as there appears to have been no anary feelings on the part of anyone, nor had there been any previous large houses, and last night in parts of that opolitan Theater again Saturday afternoon play and one act of "Mary Stuart," giving the same unbounded satisfaction as on the day in buggies in search of the fights that it treat, but the pleasure has been sadly marred each night by a local custom among our playoers that has been growing worse and worse, until the time has arrived when managers should put an end to it. The custom re-ferred to is the constant habit that many people have of coming in late, thus losing the people have of coming in late, thus losing the opening scene themselves and preventing those who do desire to hear what is said upon the stage from doing so. This unmanuerly and unwarrantable practice is more noticeable in such plays as "Mary Stuart," where the dialogue in the very first act is of the essence of the piece, than in specialty performances, but there is no excuse for it at the continuous of the same for it as the continuous of the same for its asset to be a same for its as a same for its asset to be a same for its as a sam any time. On Thursday evening it was after half-past 8 before the last of the audience was seated in the dress circle, and as the curtain rose at 8, upon a scene in which the great artist came on almost immediately, most of the audience were deprived of the most of the audience were deprived of the pleasure of hearing that portion of the dialogue which furnishes the foundation for a perfect understanding of what follows. The question has heretofore been asked, "What are you going to do about it, if people will come late?" The reply is, let managers do what is done in many of the prominent theaters in the East. IS FEET TO THE POUND. Merits of Barbed Fence:

It is the cheapest fence made; the most durable; it is not affected by fire, wind or flood; does not cause snow-drifts; takes fewer fence posts; stock cannot push it down; it protects itself—acts on the defensive; it takes but little room; you can cultivate close to it; weeds are easily kept from it; requires but little labor to put it up; you can draw enough at one load to fence a farm; you can fence a good-sized farm in a day; it is the greatest practical invention of the age; and has come to be the farm and railroad fence of the country.

We advise every one who wishes to purchase wire, and wants the best, to buy the CACTUS BARB, as it contains all the favorable for turns that are required and none of the objectionable ones. It is as it contains all the favorable features that are required, and none of the objectionable ones. It is made only from the best annealed steel, fully warranted, either galvanized or painted; put up in spools of from 100 to 120 pounds each. Remember, it will not exceed 17 ounces per rod.

Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.:

I have delayed thus long in writing because I wanted to make "assurance doubly sure" in the trial of S. S. S. in my own case, and am most happy to report that it has entirely eradicated every symptom of the disease from my system. Had I followed the advice of Tom Swift in years gons by, it would have saved me ten years of intense suffering. I have not felt the least return of the disease, and can fully and truly recommend S. S. S. to all suffering from the scourge, and especially to the physicians in Macon, who knew my condition; and when I can positively assure them that it has not only relieved me of pain, but has entirely removed every symptom of the disease from my system, it ought to convince even them of its in-name to be published, but you are free to show my let er to those who formerly knew of my condition. It is a shame that human kind should suffer from the prejudices of physicians to anything not laid down in the text books. Let me assure you of my grati-
